Dear Parents,

This morning, the class skyped Bryon Lemos, a former St. Pius School student, who is working with the Peace Corp in Honduras. The class has been emailing him and it was nice to finally see a face to go with the wonderful emails.

The “wax museum” was wonderful. The student’s presentations and costumes were great. I am very proud of them.

There is a social studies quiz on Wednesday. The class reviewed the material. Please check the social studies book to help your child study.

There are no pretest corrections today. Instead, the homework is to write each spelling word once, splitting the words into syllables.
