Dear Parents,

Wax Museum update:

There is no written work turned in for this project. The students have chosen a saint they would like to learn more about. A short speech is to be memorized and ready to present on Monday, May 19. On that day, students will first give their speeches in class and then they will dress up like the saint (Do not come to school dressed). A "wax museum" will then be presented to the school and parents from 11:00-12:30. Students will change into costumes after recess. Please do not plan to come and help your child change. Costumes should be simple enough for students to put together.

Simple props may be brought in to help with the costume. For example, in the past students who studied St. Patrick brought in stuffed snakes to have around them. No weapons are allowed, and if your child is bringing in a staff, it must stay with me until the museum starts. Please let me know if you have any other questions.

Part of the third grade religion curriculum is the Apostles' Creed. This needs to be memorized and I have sent home a copy. We will practice in class. There will be an oral and written test on Tuesday, May 20.

The May calendar was filled out on Friday. Please check you child's organizer for upcoming dates.
